ONE TEACHING POSITION NOT FILLED; TERM OPENS TUESDAY

Gettysburg's public schools will open for the 1943-44 school term on Tuesday without the services of a supervisor of music, without a cafeteria manager at the high school and with 25 per cent of the male teachers in the armed services and 12 per cent of the entire faculty in military service.

However, all positions have been filled with the exception of supervisor of music. Miss Dorothy Brindle resigned that position two weeks ago and it has not been filled as yet although there are several applicants. A successor to Miss Brindle is expected to be elected within a few days.

Mrs. John Plattenburg has resigned as manager of the cafeteria at the high school and that position has not been filled. There are no applicants for the post.

HOLIDAY TO BE OBSERVED ON LABOR DAY

Adams county residents for the most part will celebrate Labor Day in traditional style—with some making that last summer vacation trip and others, especially the farmers, continuing with their work.

The labor shortage will keep farmers and fruit growers busy in their fields and orchards while a number of stores in the town are planning to remain open.

The furniture factories will close, as will the post office where regular holiday hours will be in effect. There will be no town or rural deliveries but the mailmen will make the usual holiday collections of outgoing mail.

Most of the town's large grocery stores said today they planned to close for the holiday and the banks will be closed.

Vacation Trips

"A" card holders who get a holiday will find themselves able to make short trips, and many will take advantage of the opportunity to make that one vacation trip if there are no other means of transportation. No permits are needed for the vacation trips now that the restrictions have been lifted on gasoline the local War Price and Rationing board said.

The holiday will cause postponement of many meetings until Tuesday evening. The local Lions and Rotary clubs are cancelling their regular Monday night sessions and will meet the following Monday in joint session. The local and York Springs town councils, which regularly meet the first Monday night of the month postponed their sessions until Tuesday.

The Chamber of Commerce however will hold its regular board of directors meeting Monday, with the directors gathering at the cottage of President Mares Sherman at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

The Gettysburg Times will not publish on Labor Day.

DORIS ANN DAY TO WED MONDAY

Miss Doris Ann Day, 28 Chambersburg street, daughter of the late Captain Lewis A. Day and Mrs. Ruth Faber Day, and John Michael Kamrad, Washington, D. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kamrad, Atlantic City, New Jersey, will be married Monday at 11 a. m. in the rectory of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church, West High street, by the Rev. Fr. Mark E. Stock.

Miss Day is a graduate of Gettysburg high school with the class of 1938 and attended Gettysburg college and the Washington, D. C., school for secretaries. She is an employee of the British Army staff at Washington. Mr. Kamrad graduated from Atlantic City high school with the class of 1937 and from Atlantic City college in 1940. Since then he has been employed by the Civil Service commission at Washington.

Following the wedding a dinner for the wedding party will be held at the Hotel Gettysburg and at 2 p. m. a reception will be held at the home of Miss Day's grandmother, Mrs. Annie M. Faber, Chambersburg street. The couple will reside in Washington following a brief wedding trip to Ocean City, New Jersey.

OFFICE TO BE OPEN

McSherry, deputy collector of internal revenue, announced today that the local revenue office in the postoffice building will be open daily, starting Monday, until including September 15 for the purpose of assisting taxpayers who are required to file a Declaration of Estimated Income and Victory Tax.

5 Months Old Baby Breaks Skull In Two-Story Fall

Linda Carole Malone, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd C. Malone, 104 West High street is a patient at the Warner hospital today with a fractured skull following a fall Friday morning from the second story of her home. The child's condition was described as improved.

The fall occurred shortly after 10 o'clock. Mrs. Malone had gotten her other three children out of bed and had laid the baby who had just recently learned to crawl about slightly, in the center of the bed in a front room on the second floor. She then put pillows at the side of the child to keep her from falling to the floor.

Going down stairs she heated a bottle of milk for the baby and was putting on the shoes of a son, Richard Allen, when she heard the baby cry, she told a reporter for The Gettysburg Times. Rushing up stairs she found the baby had disappeared and that the screen in the window had been pushed out and that the curtains were torn. Running downstairs she found the baby on the ground. The baby was immediately rushed to a doctor's office and then removed to the hospital.

Besides the baby, Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Malone have three other children, Lloyd Edward, Richard Allen and Jean Yvonne.

STATE ORDERS DAMAGES PAID

The Public Utility Commission at Harrisburg today ordered the Western Maryland railway and the state Department of Highways to pay Adams county $1,125 and $675, respectively to apply on the $2,250 paid by the county in satisfying damage claims which resulted from grade crossing changes and highway improvements.

Clarence C. Smith, chief clerk to the county commissioners, said this morning the announcement apparently applied to the payment of the court-awarded damage claim of G. Neville and Margaret Waters, Lincolnway east, for $2,250.

Only the Heverly and Otto cases remain to be closed in the list of damage actions which resulted from the re-location of the Western Maryland railroad to eliminate the grade crossings at Guildens and Brush Run, Mr. Smith said.

Previous payments to the county by the Western Maryland amounted to $6,348.16 while the highway department already has turned over $3,808.90, records at the court house show.

OPA INSPECTS FARMERS MART THIS MORNING

Stands at the Farmers' market house were visited this morning by an OPA agent who professed to be interested in seeing that regulations covering the posting of prices and proper calculation of prices are being followed rather than in detecting and citing violators of price ceilings.

The farmers were directed to post signs stating the prices they are charging for eggs and dressed chickens and the agent told a number of farmers that onions and potatoes are to be sold by the pound rather than by the box or basket.

Onions, for instance, had been selling at 10 and 15 cents per quart box. The OPA agent was quoted as saying that onions may be sold only at from 7 1/2 to nine cents per pound. Growers said a heaping quart box contains about two pounds of onions and posted signs accordingly.

Peaches Plentiful

So far as could be learned no price changes were ordered excepting in the case of cabbage which had been selling at eight cents per pound. The agent said, according to the hucksters, that five cents per pound is the most they dare charge. The farmers said grocers in Gettysburg are charging eight cents per pound.

Several farmers said the same agent had visited the market house Thursday morning but found only four stands occupied and promised to return today when business was rushing.

Peaches were plentiful this morning. Hales were $5 per bushel while Elbertas and Belle of Georgias ranged from $3.50 to $4.50 per bushel. Prices on two-quart boxes ranged from 25 to 35 cents.

Fox Grapes Offered

Smokehouse and Summer Rambo apples were on sale at prices ranging up to $3 per bushel. By the half peck they brought 30 to 40 cents and 20 cents a quart peck. Plums brought 15 and 20 cents a quart box while white and blue grapes sold at 20 cents per quart. Fox grapes were offered at the same figure.

Tomatoes were in good supply today at $1 and $1.25 per half bushel. They were 10 and 15 cents per quart box. Corn beans brought 15 cents a quart box, 25 cents for a two-quart box and 25 cents per quart peck at other stands. Potatoes were 60 and 65 cents per peck and $2.40 and $2.50 per bushel.

Celery could be had at 15 cents per stalk; squash, two for 15 and 10 cents each. Lima beans were 50 cents per quart at most stands. Baby limas were marked 20 cents per pint at some stands. Egg plants were 10 and 15 cents each. Seckel pears brought 10 cents per quart box. Roasting ears were scarce at 30 and 40 cents per dozen ears.

Eggs At 50 Cents

Dressed chicken prices ranged from 50 to 58 cents per pound. Pullet eggs were offered at 40 cents per dozen. Regulars ranged from 45 to 50 cents with the latter figure being quoted at most stands. Orders were being taken for live muscovy ducks at 27 cents per pound.

Mixed bouquets were on sale at a number of stands at various prices but gladioli ranged in price from 50 cents to $2.50 per dozen spikes.

Have Numbers Of Cars That Blocked Fire Trucks Friday

Numbers of several of the autos that blocked the way for fire trucks answering the alarm Friday evening at the brickyard have been turned over to Chief of Police Glenn Guise for investigation and prosecution, Fire Chief James A. Aumen said today.

"Cars not only raced close behind the fire engine but tried to beat us to road intersections and choked the narrow road leading to the scene of the fire," Aumen said.

He added that so many warnings have been issued in the past against motorists who race to fires without regard for their own safety or that of other users of the highway and at the same time interfere with the movements of the firemen that he is now asking that the offenders be prosecuted.

Three Cities Are Captured On Mainland

By ROGER GREENE
The Associated Press

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced today that a second wave of Allied troops had swept across the Strait of Messina, reinforcing the British 8th Army's original landings, and reported "good progress" in the British day-old invasion of southern Italy.

At least three cities on the toe of the Italian boot—Reggio Calabria, San Giovanni and Melito—were reported to have been captured.

Advance Is Continuing

"The advance is continuing," an Allied war bulletin said. Italy's high command said British and Canadian troops, attacking with naval support and "overwhelming superiority in the air," had succeeded in establishing several bridgeheads on the extreme southern tip of the Calabrian peninsula, which lies across the two-mile-wide Strait of Messina from conquered Sicily.

"After bitter fighting during which severe losses were inflicted on the enemy by our defending troops, San Giovanni, Reggio Calabria and the area of Melito had to be evacuated," the Italian communique said.

An Algiers broadcast said there was still no sign of the long-hidden Italian fleet venturing forth to battle.

Defending Forces Retreat

Radio Berlin said the Allies made a second large-scale landing yesterday between Melito, 15 miles south of Reggio Calabria, and Cape Spartivento, another 15 miles to the east. The Nazi broadcast said the new landings, carried out under cover of British warships, met Italian "protective forces" who retreated into mountain positions.

The lone mention of German troops in action came in a Berlin report that British tanks were engaging German armor north of Reggio Calabria, and this suggested that once again the Nazis were leaving the hapless Italians to bear the brunt of rearguard protection—as they did in Egypt, Libya, Tripolitania, Tunisia and Sicily.

While Italian headquarters spoke of embittered fighting, Eisenhower's command said 8th Army spearheads met "relatively weak oppositions." British and Canadian troops sent back word they had secured the beaches within two and one-half hours after the initial landings.

Beachheads Are Enlarged

Dispatches to the London Daily Express said the invasion force had "enlarged" its beachheads to a depth of 10 miles at some places.

"The advance was continuing in a northerly direction toward the first substantial Axis defenses near Palmi, more than 20 miles by road from the landing beaches at Reggio Calabria," the Express' correspondent reported.

Announcing the swift capture of Reggio Calabria and San Giovanni, Gen. Eisenhower said a large number of prisoners had been seized.

"Landings on the beaches between Reggio Calabria and Catona were secured well ahead of the scheduled hours," the Allied communique said.

"By early on Friday afternoon, the second series of ships was leaving across the straits (from Sicily) with reinforcements and supplies. This work continues."

Demolitions Are Ineffective

The communique added that demolitions by the retreating enemy were largely ineffective.

Still no word was forthcoming on Lieut.-Gen. George S. Patton's American 7th Army, but German garrisons were reported keeping nervous vigil along the Mediterranean shores of southern France for a possible thrust in that direction.

Last Man's Club Of USWV Meets

Ten members attended the fifth annual banquet of the Last Man's club of the Gettysburg camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, Friday evening, at the Battlefield hotel with the retiring president, Samuel S. Snyder, Littlestown, presiding.

Members of the entertainment committee are George S. Rightmeyer, Gettysburg; Clarence L. Nett, Sharpsburg, Maryland; and John L. Shoop, Gettysburg.

Berlin Pasted By Fire Bombs, Howling Steel In Night Raid

By WILLIAM S. WHITE

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—A great bombardment fleet of Lancasters smashed Berlin last night from a clear sky, casting down 1,000 long tons (1,120 U.S. tons) of fire bombs and howling steel in 20 minutes of attack officially described by the British air ministry as "highly concentrated."

From a night of far-ranging operations—other British airmen rode the skies above the Rhineland and beat at enemy flying fields in France

INVASIONS OF EUROPE WORRY HITLER'S GANG

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

This column yesterday suggested that you and I, as long-distance watchers of the conquest of Italy, keep one eye on the unfolding of this drama and the other cocked in the direction of possible invasion points elsewhere—and that seems to be worth repeating today.

Just prior to the assault on Italy, Herr Hitler's radio mouthpieces were feverishly predicting that a double-barreled Allied invasion of the continent was imminent. They thought the attacks might come in the Mediterranean theatre and from across the English channel into France. As the signs read, it looked as though the Nazis might have got hold of at least a partial truth.

Time and Place?

Of course, we don't need the Germans to tell us that there's going to be an invasion of western Europe. We've had that many times hot off the griddle from the Allied high command. What the high command hasn't told us is when this invasion is to take place—and that's one of the paramount issues of the moment, from the standpoint of both Allies and Axis.

The Nazis have been fairly correct in many of their forecasts of Allied operations. For instance, they called the turn on our invasion of North Africa with considerable accuracy. I was in London several days before that operation and a Nazi admiral in Berlin broadcast the size of the invasion fleet and told where the landings were to be made.

Now with half their latest prophesy proved true, Berlin still believes the other half may materialize. Captain Ludwig Sertorius, military commentator of the German news agency, says that from statements by British Prime Minister Churchill it can be deduced "that the potential of the Anglo-Americans is so great as to allow them to deliver two or three blows against the continent."

Vast Preparations

The Hitlerites say the western Allies have assembled a great flotilla of transport and landing craft in the Mediterranean. Spain reports the presence of a large fleet of warships and merchantmen at the great British base of Gibraltar. The Nazi controlled Paris radio asserts that another amphibious force is assembling in Britain and that an Anglo-American armada will carry this across the English channel for invasion of France.

Berlin has pointed to the valley of the Rhone in southern France as one likely invasion place, and has asserted that there are 300,000 French troops in Oran. Well, we long have known that there are many well equipped Frenchmen in North Africa, eager to meet the Nazis on French soil once more, and if there is an invasion of southern France we may expect then to be part of it.

Airforce Busy

Along with the German reports we are getting interesting news from Allied sources. Edward Kennedy, famous Associated Press war correspondent at Allied headquarters in North Africa, in reporting the landing in Italy said it was "the first of several expected invasions of Hitler's Europe." The arrival in London of General Henry H. Arnold, chief of United States Air Forces, gave rise to speculation that he was there to effect further coordination of ground and air forces for an invasion of the continent from Britain. Meantime the Anglo-American airforces have been blasting the channel coast.

Note also has been taken of the fact that General Eisenhower has at his command forces which haven't been sent into the Italian show. They are available for other attacks.

What are the invasion possibilities?

So far as concerns the Mediterranean zone, there obviously may be landings at fresh points in Italy. As this column has said before, action might be taken against the big islands of Sardinia, Corsica and Crete. An invasion of southern France is among contingencies, and a thrust into the Balkans has been considered.

As for the invasion of western France, which Moscow almost daily calls for, this will take place when the time is ripe. However, the Allied high command recently has said that it won't be rushed into this dangerous operation.

Funeral services for Walter A. Jones, former chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, who died Friday at his home in Washington, D. C., will be held Sunday in Washington. H. C. Mitinger, Oak Ridge expects to attend the services.

Mr. Jones was given the degree of Doctor of Laws by Gettysburg college on May 18, 1942. The degree was conferred in absentia because Mr. Jones was critically ill at the time. Governor James received the same degree at that commencement.

FRED TROXELL HEADS TEACHERS

Fred C. Troxell, of the high school faculty, was elected president of the Gettysburg Teachers' association at the annual teachers meeting held Friday afternoon at the high school. He succeeds Lloyd Hartman.

Miss Louise Ramer was named vice president; Miss Catherine Dettler, secretary; Guy Wolf, treasurer, and Robert Fidler, delegate to the state convention, at the session. The tellers were Fred P. Hachlein, Miss Marian Biggs and Miss Gertrude Little.

Plans to use the time spent by the students in the home rooms to build character, develop personality and bring out desirable social traits were discussed by the teachers in a general session with Superintendent Lloyd C. Keefeauver. Following the general meeting separate sessions of the high school and elementary school teachers were held with Principal Guile W. Lefever presiding at the high school teachers' meeting and Superintendent Keefeauver at the elementary teachers' session. Details of the coming school sessions were discussed at the meetings. The school will open Tuesday.

Two Japanese bombers on reconnaissance were shot down near Madang, New Guinea, by Allied P-38s. In the Solomons, four enemy planes were wrecked on the ground during a raid by American gossals on the Kahili airdrome near Buin, Bougainville island, and a fifth Japanese plane was shot down over American-occupied Vella Lavella island.

That added up to 26 enemy planes definitely destroyed and 15 others probably destroyed or damaged.

Firemen Respond To Brickyard Call

The Gettysburg fire company was called about 9:15 o'clock Friday evening to extinguish a fire at the brickyard. Attendents at the junkyard near the brick quarry were burning debris when the fire got beyond their control. The junkyard is owned by Morris Gittlin. There was no damage. The call halted temporarily the drill of the county Minutemen who hold their weekly session on Friday evenings, with most of the local members also members of the fire company. The majority of the firemen manning the three trucks that responded to the call came garbed in their army uniforms direct from drill.

22 JAP SHIPS ARE BLASTED IN S. PACIFIC

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, Sept. 4 (AP)—Blasted apart a seven-ship supply convoy at Wewak, New Guinea, Allied bombers have added 21,000 tons of merchant shipping to the 2,500,000 tons which Navy Secretary Knox said in Washington the Japanese have lost to planes and submarines since the war opened.

Detailing one of the most staggering blows ever dealt enemy sea cargo tonnage from the air in such a short period, today's communiqué from Gen. Douglas MacArthur also reported damage of 20,500 additional tons in far-ranging operations.

Three freighter transports, each of 7,000 tons, were sent to the bottom of Wewak's harbor Thursday morning by mast-skimming Mitchell bombers which braved a balloon barrage, anti-aircraft fire and enemy fighter planes to drop 1,000 pound bombs.

Destroyer Fired

An enemy destroyer was left enveloped in flames and the stern was blown off a 1,000-ton cargo ship. That left only one cargo ship and a destroyer unreported as hit in the furious assault.

Four hundred miles west of Darwin, Australia, a 7,000-ton enemy cargo ship was damaged in a raid by four-engined Allied bombers on the harbor of Waingapoe, Soemba island.

Another 7,000-ton supply ship was damaged off Cape St. George and a 5,000-ton ship bombed near Mussau island, both in the New Ireland sector, by patrolling Liberators and Catalinas.

Off Timika, Dutch New Guinea, a 500-ton vessel, loaded with Japanese troops, was hit squarely by a bomb from a two-engined Allied plane on reconnaissance.

Rounding out the day's report, numerous small enemy craft in the Wewak Harbor were strafed, four barges were sunk in Auhansa Bay, New Guinea, three more in Borgon Bay, New Britain, and four barges and two launches in the Solomons.

Blast Airforce

Losses also were piled up against the Japanese airforce. The Mitchells and escorting Lightnings which raided Wewak, graveyard since mid-August for more than 360 enemy planes, shot down at least 12 of 35 Japanese fighters which tried to protect the convoy. The raiders probably destroyed eight others and damaged five. Three Allied bombers and one fighter were lost.

During a 60-ton bombing raid by Mitchells and Liberators on the airdrome at Cape Gloucester, southern New Britain, seven out of 11 intercepting Japanese planes were shot down for certain and two others probably destroyed at a cost of one Allied bomber.

2 Bombers Downed

Two Japanese bombers on reconnaissance were shot down near Madang, New Guinea, by Allied P-38s.

In the Solomons, four enemy planes were wrecked on the ground during a raid by American gossals on the Kahili airdrome near Buin, Bougainville island, and a fifth Japanese plane was shot down over American-occupied Vella Lavella island.

That added up to 26 enemy planes definitely destroyed and 15 others probably destroyed or damaged.

SOVIET TROOPS ARE PUMMELING RUNNING NAZIS

London, Sept. 4 (AP)—Russian armies, gaining momentum in their summer offensive, were rocking the Germans back on their heels all along a 600-mile front today to threaten three of the Nazi's most important remaining positions east of the Dnieper river.

A Soviet communique, broadcast from Moscow, announced that the Red Army had recaptured 400 villages which have been in German hands since the early days of the Russian campaign in fall of 1941. Russians troops were reported closing in on Stalino, German headquarters for the Donets area in the south; Konotop, vital junction point of the Bryansk-Kiev railway, and Smolensk, hinge of the north-central area and jumping off point for the Germans' unsuccessful drive on Moscow.

Fourth Offensive
A fourth offensive aimed at Bryansk apparently had slowed down but had not been stopped, and only in the Kharkov area did the Russians admit that stubborn German resistance in the shape of frequent counter attacks had halted the Red Army without appreciable gains.

The Russian drive reached its height in the Donets area, where the Red Army advanced nine to 12 miles on the approaches to Stalino, twelfth largest city in Russia and headquarters for Hitler's southern forces. The city fell to the Nazi invaders October 21, 1941, and has been developed into a strong base.

One Russian spearhead was closing in rapidly on Stalino from the northeast and was reported in the Soviet midnight communique to have taken the town of Zuevka, only 28 miles from the city.

The drive in the Donets basin swept 150 more villages into the Russians' bag, the midnight communique said. Large stocks of war material fell into Red Army hands and more than 4,000 Germans were killed in furious fighting.

The Russian claims were substantiated by the Berlin radio which announced that the Russians had opened a large scale offensive in the Donets basin, and the indications were that the Nazi commentator was preparing the German public for news of further withdrawals in that area.

STATE FUNDS COMING

A state appropriation of $14,851.01 to the Gettysburg school district to help pay teachers' salaries for the school year ended June 30 has been approved at Harrisburg by Auditor General F. Clair Ross. The payment is expected to be made about September 10.

Brazilian Farm Expert Coming

A Brazilian department of agriculture expert will spend the next ten days in Adams county studying forestry, soil conservation practices and erosion control, it was announced today.

Senor Jader Torres de Rezende, for the past ten years a member of the Department of Agriculture of Brazil will arrive Monday to study contour farming and other practices employed by Adams county farmers. He will be conducted on his inspection tour by D. E. Hess, local farm forester. The visit is sponsored by the Brazilian government.

Berlin Pasted

and sowed mines in enemy waters—the British lost 22 bombers.

DNB, German news agency, reported in a radio broadcast from Berlin that a preliminary count showed that 15 four-engined bombers had been shot down.

3rd in 11 Days

The Berlin raid was the third within 11 days but was not on the terrible scale of destructiveness as the two that went immediately before it.

But it struck the city already scarred and smoking from attacks that have already thrown upon it more tons of bombs than fell on London in all the long months of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's attacks, and thus had a cumulative effect far beyond the weight of explosives let loose.

The loss of British planes announced by the air ministry are less than half those of the two previous raids—58 and 47 respectively.

The bulletin reported that the Berlin raiders encountered "thick clouds along the route," but said that over the target the sky was clear.

Pound Paris Plant

The assault culminated a day of Allied aerial activity which included a full-scale raid by American Flying Fortresses upon the Caudron-Renault aircraft plant on the outskirts of Paris and attacks by other American units upon five Nazi airfields in France, including Romilly-Sur-Seine.

A Vichy broadcast recorded by the Associated Press said that many fires still were burning in the Paris suburbs this morning following the Fortress raid and that casualties included 98 persons killed and 352 injured.

The German radio as usual described the attack on Berlin as a "terror raid" but acknowledged that some damage and fires resulted. "A considerable number" of British planes were brought down by anti-aircraft batteries and fighters the broadcast said.

Attack Shipping

The Germans also reported that British planes had attacked shipping during the night in the IJsselmeer in Holland, sinking one ship and maiming several others. Associated Press dispatches from Stockholm, meanwhile said that large numbers of foreign warplanes—presumably RAF bombers returning from the attack on Berlin—had passed over the southern tip of Sweden during the night, drawing the heaviest barrage of the war from Swedish anti-aircraft batteries.

One plane was said to have crashed in flames to the summer residence of the crown prince just across the strait from Denmark.

Cadet Contingent Is Enroute South

Squadron "E" of the 55th College Training Detachment, Army Air Corps, at Gettysburg college, left this morning by special train for a southern classification center. They have completed the prescribed academic course and flight training at the college and the Gettysburg School of Aeronautics.

Lieutenant John E. Manning was in charge of the group which will live aboard the train until its arrival at a southern camp. Meals will also be served the men aboard the train.

Replacements for the men who left this morning are expected here soon.

Mrs. McGlynn Is Kit Bag Chairman

The new chairman has already started her duties, contacting a number of groups and organizations wishing to assist in the making of the kit bags which are given by the Red Cross to all soldiers going overseas.

STUDY DRAFT CASES

Nine farm deferment cases were brought before the Adams county War Board at its regular meeting Friday evening at the Farm Bureau office, North Washington street. All of the cases had been referred to the board for action by local draft boards. Harrison F. Snyder presided at the session.

SEWELL WINS 20TH; CARDS, YANKS TRIUMPH

By TED MEIER
The Associated Press

The New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals virtually clinched the championships in the American and National leagues yesterday as Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh became the first major league pitcher to win 20 games.

In polishing off Washington and Cincinnati, their closest contenders, the Yankees and Cards stretched their leads to 11 and 13½ games, respectively. Since the New Yorkers play 20 of their remaining 29 games at home and the Cards have last bats in 24 of their remaining 28 contests it is as safe as anything in baseball to assume that they will meet again in the world series.

9th Inning Rally
The Cards came from behind with a three-run ninth inning rally to beat the Reds, 5 to 4. The Yankees had comparatively easy sailing against Washington, blanking the Nats 4 to 0 behind Hank Borowy's five-hit pitching.

Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer of the Reds had a 4-2 edge as the Cards came to bat in the ninth. Whitey Kuroski was safe on an error and Ray Sanders doubled. Martin Marion singled home the first run of the inning and Sanders scored the tying tally on Debs Garms' bunt. Harry Walker ended the game by singling Marion home.

Handicapped by the loss of Harland Clift, who was sent home with the mumps, Washington was stopped cold by Borowy's twirling and the hitting of Bud Metheny and Bill Johnson. Metheny socked a triple and homer while Johnson drove in three runs with two singles. Borowy did not permit a Washington runner to reach third in winning his tenth game.

Downs Cubs 5-1
Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yanks was hit by a thrown ball while seated in the dugout before the game. The injury was not serious, said Dr. Emmett Walsh said it would give McCarthy a "black eye." Aided by five Chicago errors the veteran Sewell experienced little difficulty in gaining his long-sought twentieth triumph. He scattered eight hits in beating the Cubs, 5 to 1.

Whit Wyatt's pitching and Luis Olmo's hitting extended Brooklyn's winning streak to seven with a 4 to 1 triumph over the Giants. Wyatt hurried shutout ball after the first inning to register his tenth win of the year. Olmo doubled in the winning runs.

Pinky Higgins connected for a three-run ninth inning homer to give Detroit an 8 to 5 victory over the St. Louis Browns while the Philadelphia Athletics beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4, for their second win in 26 games. A double steal by JoJo White and Bobby Estalella, after Estalella's two-run single with the bases loaded, gave the A's the winning run in the seventh.

The Boston Braves, Phillies, White Sox and Indians were idle.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Harry Feldman, young New York Giant right-handed pitcher who was rejected by the armed services earlier this week because of his health, has turned in his baseball uniform and gone to Saranac Lake, N. Y., for a long rest. He is not expected to return this season.

Arizona Drops Out Of 1943 Football

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 4 (AP)—There'll be no intercollegiate football at the University of Arizona this year.

Coach Mike Casteel took an inventory, and found (a) no lettermen and (b) only 10 or 12 youngsters who have played football in high school.

The athletics committee recommended that the sport be dropped. Casteel will concentrate on intramurals.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—Next week football—Yale vs. Muhlenberg and Illinois vs. Camp Grant to name a few early starters . . . but don't expect any red-hot tips from this corner. All we know is that we'd like a piece of a good pro franchise this year where there's virtually no college competition.

One of the Illinois players is H. Hurricane Mitchell, a 19-year-old freshman halfback who was born during a hurricane. If he plays like his name, Mike Tobin, veteran Illinois tub-thumper, probably will make a quick recovery from his serious illness. . . . The season won't be all gravy for the pros, however. Pete Cawthon says his Brooklyn Dodger players had so many different kinds of coaching that he had to start from the bottom as if they were a bunch of freshmen.

WHAT, NO MARINE?

Things will ever be the same

NIP AND TUCK RACE FOR LEAD IN INTERSTATE

(By The Associated Press)

Playoffs for the Interstate league championship will start September 16, but the tight race has fans in a dither and nobody is certain who will play who.

While loop officials met yesterday in Wilmington to arrange the Governor's cup series, their respective clubs battled tooth and nail for a spot in the post-season classic, with only minor changes resulting in the standings.

The league leading Lancaster Red Roses clung to their slim game and a half lead by staging a belated rally to nose out the fifth place Trenton Packers 5-3. Kardow hurled four hit ball for the Roses and after a wobbly start, mowed down his adversaries with ease.

Hurls 4-Hitter

The second place Hagerstown Owls also took advantage of a four hitter thrown by Bill Angstadt to nose out the third place Wilmington Blue Rocks 3-1. Paced by Riley's triple, the Owls tallied all their runs in the seventh.

The Allentown-York tilt was postponed to allow the Fleetwings to meet the New Cumberland Army Reception Center nine which shellacked the loop's cellar dwellers 21-5.

The officials, representing every team but Allentown, which is definitely eliminated from the playoffs, decided the clubs ending the regular season September 14 in first and third places will meet in a three-out-of-five game series in the semifinal round, opening in the park of the first place nine, while the second and fourth teams will start in the park of the club finishing second.

The final series, four-out-of-seven, will start in the park of the club finishing higher in the standings.

Reading Wins First In Legion Playoff

New Kensington, Pa., Sept. 4 (AP)

—The series between Reading and Curtisville for the State American Legion baseball championship will wind up here today. Reading won the first game yesterday at Curtisville, 14-6.

HUNT STAGES BIG UPSET IN TENNIS PLAY

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)

Apparently a good way to get your self sent to sea is to win the National Singles Tennis championship. That's what happened to Lieut. Ted Schroeder, who won the title last year. He's an officer on one of Uncle Sam's destroyers now and couldn't defend his title because he has to spend too much time at sea.

Then there's Lieut. Joe Hunt, also a Navy officer, who hasn't won the title yet but who may stand a pretty good chance.

Hunt, former Davis cup doubles player and once ranked No. 4 nationally, staged the biggest upset of the current championships yesterday when he administered an 8-6, 6-2, 6-3 trouncing to Corp. Frankie Parker of the Army air force, the top seeded player.

Misses Many Shots

"Parker missed a lot of the kind of shots that Parker never misses," said Joe in explanation of yesterday's lopsided triumph over the veteran player who was runner-up to Schroeder last year. "But after the first set I felt confident that I had things under control."

Hunt meets fourth-seeded Bill Talbert of Indianapolis in today's semi-final.

The other men's semifinal, to be played tomorrow, pits Ecuador's two-fisted clouter, Pancho Segura, against third-seeded Jack Kramer of the Coast Guard.

The women's singles tourney also reached the semi-finals yesterday with one upset. Dorothy May Bundy, third in the national rankings two years ago but unranked last season, bounded back with a three-set victory over Margaret Osborne, her successor in the No. 3 spot. Today Miss Bundy plays second-ranked Louis Brough and defending champion Pauline Betz meets Doris Hart, the Florida girl who yesterday handed out some rough treatment to the 1941 champion, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke.

Visits Old Sites While In England

In a recent letter to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Heagey, North Stratton street, their son, M-Sgt. Carroll Heagey, writes of visiting several of the old sections of England.

Excerpts from the letter follow: Dear Folks,

Received your letter several days ago and sure was glad to hear from you and that all are well at home. This leaves me well, and plenty of work to do. However, am glad of that as it helps to pass the time. Just hope that it will be over soon and we can get home. The news really looks very good these days and sure hope it continues the same.

Went through some old villages last week. Also the Sherwood Forest. That's where Robin Hood made the headlines. Really have seen a lot of England now. Just hope to get to see London. Maybe I will be able to get a two-day pass and look the place over.

NELSON AT TOP FORM IN SPITE OF STIFF NECK

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Bryon Nelson is great without a stiff neck. But right now he's playing his best golf of the year with one.

He slept in a draft at Toledo and couldn't turn his head to look out of the train window en route to the Golden Valley Invitational best-ball matches.

"Without time for a massage, he rushed to the first tee yesterday, shook hands with his partner, Jug McSpaden, then went on such a par-wrecking spree that he had to confess when it was all over that "It was the best round I've ever had in my life."

That's saying a lot, for Byron has had one of the most sensational careers in the game's history. But with the exception of one shot, which plunked into a creek and cost him a stroke, Nelson was as straight as a desert toad from tee to green and putted as if following a groove.

With Nelson getting a five-under-par 32 on the first nine unassisted, he and McSpaden came in with a best ball medal of 62—11 strokes under the standard count—and won four holes in match play competition from the formidable combination of Craig Wood and Jimmy Demaret.

On the method of scoring, Nelson-McSpaden led the other seven top-notch teams into today's 36 holes with a plus 4 count. Wood-Demaret were at the bottom of the field with a minus 4.

CHANGE OF DRESS

On this world men call a stage
What is growth and what is age?

Are they phases others note
By a change of hat and coat?

Once a knickerbockered lad,
Then a youth in trousers clad.

People see his raiment gay,
"Growing up!" he hears them say.

Then an older man appears,
Dressed to suit his weight of years.

Next comes age, and even that Wears a different coat and hat.

Old? Be happy none the less!
Age is just a change of dress.

FURNISHING THE HEART

The most neglected room in the world is the room of the heart. How many are there who take time to furnish it beautifully. There it is that the spiritual period of our lives resides. There it is that we invite our choicest friends. There it is that we entertain God!

What kind of furnishings should it have? Well, a love seat, a kindness chair, a couch of peace for the restless, flowers for the worried and small of faith, carpets of colorful softness to soothe tired feet, windows without shades to let the light of hope in, and a prayer altar, to dispel fear of past mistakes and future anxieties. In short, simply furnished with the essentials that invite happiness.

He who created this wonderful body of ours meant that it should last a long time, and be devoted to making people happy and the world a better place in which to work and live. He never meant that this heart of ours should be used to house dissensions, bitterness and greed. He never meant that it should be a room where darkness and despair might gather.

The greater part of our lives should be spent in planning out the furnishings of this heart of ours. And as we live and learn, much of the old furniture should be replaced with newer and more substantial furniture—furniture that can be passed on to other hearts in need of the kind that enriches life, and which adds lustre to character.

All through the various stages and growth of the mind and spirit this room of the heart needs to be furnished and re-furnished. Youth has its own, so does middle age, and the sunset period, as well. Perhaps the latter is the more important, for then it is that it invites all of the former.

How futile it is to gather possessions that can only create bitterness and envy when the final appraisal, at the end of this little spell of life, is over! How full of beauty and resignation is the giving up of a perfectly furnished heart—that all the world may take it as an example, and cherish its vision and undying memory! When Thoreau was buried Emerson stood at the grave. As he turned and walked away, he said: "He had a beautiful soul." He might have said: He had a beautifully furnished heart!

HOOVER URGES TRUSTEESHIP, MANAGE PEACE

Minneapolis, Sept. 4 (AP)—A movement now to set up a trusteeship from among the leading United Nations to manage the peace was proposed last night by former president Herbert Hoover.

"This was one of four steps he suggested to arrange peace, now that victory is 'inevitable'."

Mr. Hoover, who delivered an address before a capacity audience in the Coffman Memorial Union at the University of Minnesota, said the trusteeship, in arranging the peace, should eliminate the usual armistice or general peace conference.

As his second point, Mr. Hoover said the peace managers chosen by the United Nations should impose provisional peace terms on the defeated nations.

Cool Off Period

Thirdly, he said nothing else should be done until a period of a few years has passed "in which the world can cool off."

And, lastly, he said "some sort of a world institution to replace the managers and preserve peace" should be created after a cooperative spirit has developed within the world. "This institution, he said, should be established to 'preserve' the peace—not 'make it.'"

Discussing a series of 11 reasons for these steps, the former president drew applause when he said that while the record of history showed that a few nations have always dominated the world after the end of war, it would be a new experience if they would do this time under agreements made in the open.

ASSERTS WAR SHOULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED

Greenville, Pa., Sept. 4 (AP)—Governor Martin declared today that if the advice of Gen. John J. Pershing had been taken 25 years ago World War II might have been avoided and warned "we must never again find ourselves fighting a revived and revengeful enemy."

In an address prepared for delivery at the dedication of an outdoor theatre presented to the Shenango Personnel Replacement Depot by the Pennsylvania Grand Lodge of Masons, the Governor asserted:

"General Pershing, one of the truly great military leaders of the world, urged that we drive on to complete, final and unquestioned victory. We failed to listen to him but had we taken his advice this war might have been avoided. We must not make that mistake again."

Enemies Checked

The Governor, 40 years a soldier, declared "our enemies have been checked but not broken. No man can say when they will be broken. They are hard, arrogant and confident after four years of fighting. They have brought back the days of the conquerors."

"There can be no peace on earth," he said, "so long as their armies are unbroken and their power is not destroyed," adding:

"There will be a day when we force our enemies to surrender, a day when the dark shadow they have cast upon the earth will be lifted. Then we can bind up their wounds, feed their destitute people, and make with them a just and even a generous peace."

"You men here at Shenango and your comrades and brothers-in-arms in the great encampments, the far-flung bases and along the distant battlefronts," he said, "are all a part of the greatest effort ever made by this nation. On what you do depends the next thousand years of American history."

Be Prepared
Saying that global war demands long preparation, with fronts multiplying as it develops, Martin asserted:

"When the blow fell at Pearl Harbor we were unprepared even for a war on our own hemisphere. We were not even ready for war on our continent. Our Navy had been reduced. Our armed forces had been decreased. We had neglected our own defenses, believing and hoping that the great oceans were our safeguards."

"We know better now," he said. "We know that fighting men and fighting ships, material and training are the only sure defenses of any nation."

To Select "War Service Stations"

Harrisburg, Sept. 4 (AP)—Representatives of 17 oil companies and Office of Price Administration officials Friday approved plans to establish "war service stations" to assure fuel supplies in the 10-county central state area for essential traffic in case of unforeseen gasoline shortages.

Frank J. Loftus, acting OPA director of the area, said the oil company men will submit a list of stations to be designated as special war emergency distributors and that the list will go to Washington for final approval.

Order New Cut On Newsprint

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP)—An additional five per cent cut in newsprint usage for the fourth quarter of 1943 has been recommended by the Newspaper Industry Advisory committee.

In announcing the action, the War Production board said this would mean a total cut of 15 per cent since the start of the year, but the newspaper group's recommendation has not been translated into a decision because information is lacking on the newsprint tonnage to be delivered by Canada in the fourth quarter.

Canada supplies 75 per cent of the print paper used by United States publishers.

WMC Official Denies Report

Philadelphia, Sept. 4 (AP)—Frank L. McNamee, regional director of the War Manpower Commission, said Friday that his office has no intention of taking over state Employment Service offices on a permanent basis under the guise of "war emergency."

McNamee answered allegations by William Chestnut, Pennsylvania state labor secretary, who said the WMC is moving deliberately to get permanent control of the state agency, which was loaned to the United States for the duration.

Chestnut said the government was cancelling leases on employment offices and rewriting them as federal leases.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobson Crouse returned from a visit with their sons, Fred and Earle, of the United States Navy, who are stationed at Roanoke Island, North Carolina.

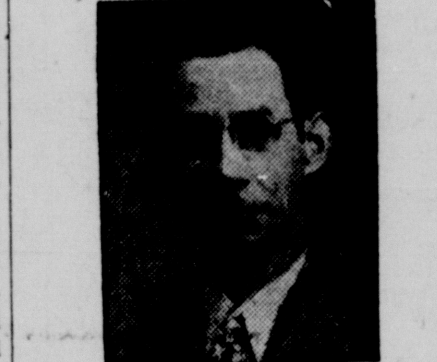

Sergeant Seeks Return Of Wife

Pittsburgh, Sept. 4 (AP)—Judge Ralph H. Smith set next Tuesday for a hearing on a petition filed yesterday by an Army sergeant to force the parents of his 19-year-old wife to return to him.

Sergeant Oliver T. Baird, 21, of Aberdeen, Md., formerly of McKeesport, charged Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Duffy seized their daughter, Mrs. Catherine Baird, twisted her arm until she fainted and forcibly and against her will "took her away in a taxicab."

The unusual habeas corpus proceeding disclosed that the alleged abduction took place Thursday night when his wife waited for him at the railroad station upon his return here on furlough.

YOUTH SHOULD STAY IN SCHOOL ASSERTS HAAS

By RALPH E. WALLIS

Harrisburg, Sept. 4 (AP)—Pennsylvania youth must be convinced that going to school is an essential war-time job for those who may later be inducted into military service, Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, declared in an interview today.

With an estimated 39,000 fewer pupils returning to school this fall—most of whom are of high school age—local education officials have disclosed many of those over 18 years of age are not returning to studies but are continuing industrial work because of impending induction into the armed forces.

"As schools open this fall it seems wise to emphasize again the importance of proper preliminary education for the armed forces," Doctor Haas said.

War Contribution
"Many young men in the junior and senior year of high school are under the impression it is not necessary to continue their studies since they expect to be called into service. The best immediate contribution that youth can make to the winning of the war is to remain in school to complete the work now being done."

State Selective Service headquarters explained high school boys over 18 years of age are liable for induction until they complete a half of an academic year and then are entitled to deferment until the end of the school term.

"All of us, children and adults alike, must play the most effective part we can in this war," Doctor Haas said, adding, "School is the best place for a large proportion of the 'teen-age summer workers' if they are to be prepared to make their best contribution to the war and to reconstruction and peace-time needs."

He quoted Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Manpower Commission, as advising: "Stay in school until you are called, * * * if the armed forces need you, they will let you know."

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES

Proclamation

RECOGNIZING THE FACT that in carrying the war into enemy territory, we shall need greater amounts of money than any nation has ever asked from its citizens in all history, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do officially proclaim that on Thursday, the ninth of September, 1943, the Third War Loan shall be launched.

As Commander-in-Chief, I hereby invoke every citizen to give all possible aid and support to this Third War Loan drive, not only so that our financial goal may be reached, but to encourage and inspire those of our husbands and fathers and sons who are under fire on a dozen fronts all over the world. It is my earnest hope that every American will realize that in buying War Bonds in this Third War Loan he has an opportunity to express voluntarily and under the guidance of his conscience, the extent to which he will "back the attack."

The American people supported well the first and second War Loan drives and in fact did even more than was asked of them. Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence

BLOOD PLASMA RESERVES IN STATE RISING

Harrisburg, Sept. 4 (AP)—Steadily increasing reserves of blood plasma in Pennsylvania hospitals have climbed to the 11,924-unit mark, the State Council of Defense reported today.

Dr. E. E. Shifferstine, chief medical officer, said 2,500 units have been added to the supply since last March showing "Pennsylvania is becoming better prepared each day to meet an air raid or natural disaster."

In addition to the 11,924 units reported in 292 general hospitals having more than 25 units each, another 275 units are in custody of the American Red Cross, "a sizable supply" is being processed by the State Department of Health and still more units are in the hands of industrial casualty stations, the medical officer said.

City Totals

Of the total supply in hospitals, 7,522 units are frozen plasma, 1,539 are in liquid form and 2,863 dried plasma.

The council indicated a four-fold increase in hospital plasma banks since March, 1942. At that time the total was 2,775 units, while in March, 1943, the figure had mounted to 9,483 units.

Present totals for individual cities include: Philadelphia, 3,792 units; Pittsburgh, 1,647; Scranton, 430; Erie, 756; Allentown, 438; Harrisburg, 1,213; Reading, 69; Lancaster, 142; Altoona, 146; Johnstown, 670; Chester, 175; Bethlehem, 141; Wilkes-Barre, 332; Williamsport, 204; Easton, 100, and Washington, 97.

Riding with Russell

Insist upon having the right of way and you'll probably get left.

We have become so accustomed to assuming that squeaks under hood indicate a glazed fan belt there is a natural tendency to overlook the possibility that such noise may be due to need for internal oiling of the water pump. The same emulsifying oil that is used to check rust in the cooling system can be used effectively in checking such pump noise, but if it fails to respond to such treatment it is safe enough to flake some linseed oil auto soap and let it circulate through the system. Another noise easily confused with fan belt music is that caused by the distributor cam which needs just a touch of vaseline by way of lubricant.

Hookey, That's What It Is

Hat's off to Westbrook Pegler for that amusing piece about the motorist's innate desire to jump into the car once in a blue moon just to go nowhere in particular. Pegler speaks of yearning for a ride that includes a hot dog and a glass of beer. Yours may be concerned with a stopover at one of those colorful tearooms where they serve the salad before the meat course or nip you for atmosphere. It doesn't really matter where you go, how you go or what you do en route. As persuasive Pegler puts it, you just have this urge. It accounts for the wholesale violations of gas ration regulations. Motorists don't want to break the rules. They just have to be themselves in a motor-minded era. It's the kid in us—the same kid that plays hookey to head for the old swimmin' hole once more on a hot September day.

Service men who want to be certain whether or not the radiator is clogged usually make a vacuum test by connecting a vacuum gauge to the drain cock which on many cars is located between the radiator and the water pump. A vacuum reading of 10 to 15 will usually indicate that the radiator is clogged, although if the pump happens to be a large one the reading may be half this amount and still indicate a clogged core.

Down Goes the Cost

Those of you have been keeping accurate records of operating costs have doubtless reached the conclusion that for some time we have been fooling ourselves into thinking that automobiling was inexpensive. Some of us talked of mile costs of around 10 cents, others scaled this down to 5 cents, while still others overtaxed their veracity by mentioning the 3½ cent mile cost as if it were a fact. All this presented a pretty enough picture, but we have a different view of it now that we are not using our cars so extensively and are thus not actually spending so much money on them. What does it matter if the mile cost is 5 or 50 cents if you are spending $50 to $100 to keep in cars and to keep them rolling? The mile cost has now gone up so high that no one bothers to figure it, but we're way down on actual dollar cost of automobiling. Of course we aren't going anywhere either, but sometimes we wonder if we wouldn't have been better off not doing so much aimless driving. I won't go into the human side of it, for I am a bug on motoring for recreation's sake, but I just couldn't help reminding those with such a flair for figures that at least the war has taught us that we were sort of fooling ourselves about how little it cost to drive.

How He Does It

From one of those seasoned mot-

torists who has driven over 75,000 miles in the past ten years I have culled some pertinent remarks on how to keep the car running long distances without trouble. One that particularly impressed me is H. P.'s remark that he never knew the maximum speed of his car. Equally impressive is his statement that he never tinkered with anything on the car with which he was not familiar. To those who allow their cars to be banged around on parking lots he has a message in stating that he never lets any Tom, Dick or Harry use his car. Too many drivers of the same car, in his opinion, spoil the broth.

This may surprise you but according to an article by Dr. C. T. Small in "Chemical Industries" glycerine is widely used in automobile cleansers and polishes. Here's what you'd find by analysis is the composition of a typical polish of this type:

Light mineral oil 5 per cent; water-soluble gum 25 per cent; kerosene 9 per cent; denatured alcohol 5 per cent; glycerine 4 per cent; diatomaceous earth 13 per cent; water 63.75 per cent.

Due to evaporation and changes in percentages of the ingredients as the stuff is used it is obvious why a polish never is as good when the bottle's half empty as when it is fresh opened.

Start Now to Save

Soon we'll be thinking about antifreeze. Due to restrictions on sale of those solutions containing ethylene glycol majority of motorists will need to use alcohol. This increases the risk of overheating due to the lowered boiling point of alcohol. So if your cooling system is equipped with a pressure cap be sure that its gasket isn't swollen, torn or wrinkled as this will destroy the sealing effect. Purpose of sealed cooling is to permit an increase in pressure before the overflow drain opens. Naturally such a system saves any anti-freeze that tends to boil off too freely.

Don't lose too much time speculating as to whether it is better to leave the car in reverse or low when you want to safeguard it on hill parking. The truth is that the engine is just as good a brake whether it rotates in its usual way or is reversed. A six cylinder engine was tested with a gauge which, oddly enough, showed that compression was just a little higher in reverse than in the engine's usual direction of rotation. The difference was attributed to the piston rings fitting a little more snugly when the engine went backwards. By altering the front end of the crankshaft a special crank was fitted which could be used to turn the engine in either direction.

More Likely to Leak

It may seem that if an oil filter is going to leak it will perform its trick regardless of whether its cartridge is clean or clogged, but the fact is that if the cartridge is at the end of its usefulness there will be greater likelihood of leakage. This is because the cartridge forces the oil to by-pass around the filter. All this is safe enough so far as the oiling system goes, but if there is a loose connection or a possible point of escape the increased pressure of the oil at the point of restriction is apt to start a healthy leak. Incidentally, because of excessive dilution of oil these days filter shells are more apt to rust. It pays to change the oil more frequently to keep out the water which gets into it through excessive condensation.

It's a Motor Question

Q I recently bought a used low-priced car in an effort to get better gas mileage, but I find that I barely get 12 miles to the gallon. Compression is low in one cylinder. Would that do it? T. R.

A. That low compression indicates that you have a bad valve or two in one of the cylinders, but you'll want to test the bad cylinder to make sure you haven't weak rings on its particular piston. I think you should look for more than compression as an explanation of the poor mileage. How about dragging brake shoes, slipping clutch, late ignition timing, incorrect engine lube, and incorrect carburetor float level?

Q On upgrading when the throttle is open I get an occasional miss in the engine. The plugs are all right. Does this sound like fuel pump trouble? C. H.

A. No. Check over the breaker points. They are dirty and not properly gapped.

Q In replacing the distributor shaft on my car does it make any difference how I replace it so long as the teeth mesh with the gear on the camshaft? G. K. L.

A. Yes. It is important that the shaft be replaced in correct relation to the camshaft otherwise the engine will be out of time. Let me know the make and year of manufacture of your car and I will advise you the right procedure.

Q What would cause sparks to come from the exhaust? There is no apparent backfiring. H. D., Jr.

A. Overheated particles of carbon are blowing out. The engine needs a good cleaning.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him care of the Gettysburg Times and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

63,053 Used Cars

Harrisburg, Aug. 24 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Automotive association asserted yesterday 63,053 used automobiles have been bought in Pennsylvania in the past year and shipped out of the state.

In a statement to members, Manager Claude S. Klugh asked "Is this a health condition?" He said "thousands and thousands of vehicles are being taken from this state that will never return." Comparative figures for other years were not available.

With no more cars being manufactured until the war is over and at the rate used cars are leaving Pennsylvania, hadn't we all better stop, think and take better care of the cars we STILL HAVE?

Your present car will have to last, unless you can trade it for a better one and according to the above news item that will soon be impossible.

Are Your Tires Worn Smooth ?

When the non-skid pattern on your tires disappears and you're riding on a smooth surface—it's time to check with the experts! Not all tires can be successfully recapped—if the side-walls are bruised or if the carcass is damaged by improper inflation the tire may not be worth recapping! But our mechanics can tell you if your tires are in line for more mileage—if you are giving them the proper care—and they can do an expert job of recapping!

WCTU Contributes Toward State Work

The Gettysburg unit of the WCTU at its regular meeting Thursday evening voted a contribution to the work of James A. Killup, chairman of the Pennsylvania Prohibition committee and editor of "The Keystone," a temperance publication. The ladies also discussed the local option tests on beer and liquor sales in 69 municipalities in the state at the primaries. East Berlin is the only county community to exercise local option in this county this year.

The group announced that its committee on prison and jail work will discontinue its work to make way for seminary students who will carry on work conducted by the ladies during the vacation months.

After a social hour the meeting adjourned to meet in October with Mrs. Emory Zepp, the president. Mrs. Zepp presided Thursday evening at the meeting which was held at the YWCA with Mrs. Florence Grider acting as hostess. She was in charge of devotions.

THE LONG NIGHT

By Eleanor Atterbury

Chapter 20

For what seemed hours, they fought their way through the storm toward the tiny opening between the two pincer-like points of the cliffs protecting the harbor. Then just as Bette thought surely they must give up, the tide caught them, flung them out to sea. For minutes they rode swiftly on the boiling current, powerless to guide the tiny craft.

Once outside the sea flattened out guilelessly. Dawn seeped rapidly into the sky and the storm disappeared. "Whew!" Scott whistled. "That was a close one. Now, do you suppose our luck still holds?"

He grinned at her as he turned, crawled back to the stern and the little gasoline engine. For minutes while Bette held her breath and prayed, he tinkered with the motor.

He whirled the starter. The engine coughed dispiritedly and refused to turn over. Scott swore softly and tried it again. And again. When, the third time, it took hold, began running unevenly Bette felt tears of relief slip down her cold cheeks.

"Thank Heaven," she murmured, but her relief was shortlived.

An instant later, Scott suddenly switched off the engine, peered out toward the horizon.

Bette followed his glance, saw the outlines of a ship coming toward them. A chill crept down her spine. Undoubtedly an enemy ship. Had they seen the little motor boat?

"Duck!" Scott ordered sharply. "Keep that red hair of yours out of sight." He flung a tarpaulin toward her. "You don't make a very good Jap."

"What are you going to do?" she demanded and crawled under the heavy covering obediently.

"They can't miss seeing us," he said as if thinking aloud. "Our only chance is to count on their thinking we're—or rather I am a Jap doing a little scouting. Maybe if we look business-like and unconcerned they won't stop to ask embarrassing questions."

Coolly turning his back to the rapidly approaching vessel, he pulled his jacket collar high to cover most of his face, jerked off his flying helmet so that his blue-black hair showed plainly. He started the engine again, heading boldly down the coast.

Bette, half-smothered under the dirty canvas, lived a life-time in that half hour. She dared not move. Neither could she make herself heard to the man sitting stoically beside the engine.

Release came finally. Scott jerked off the tarpaulin, his face wreathed in smiles, his voice jubilant.

"It worked!" He grasped her hands, pulled her to a sitting position. "You must be the one with a charmed life, carrot-top. Lady luck has never stayed loyal to me this long!"

Bette, her nerves strained to the breaking point, snatched her hands from his, said crossly, "Please don't call me carrot-top, and what makes you think it's so darned lucky to be out in Alaskan waters in a motor boat!"

He laughed—a deep, heart-warming sound that released some of Bette's tension.

"You're absolutely right. Still, we've got a good chance of making it now."

But Bette was too utterly weary to help her hopes lift any wings. Her mind, with fine disregard of relative values, refused to consider the fact that they were still a long way from the Post in unfamiliar waters. All she could worry about now was that Scott still treated her like a small boy companion, or at very best, a much-younger sister who was a responsibility and a nuisance.

The sea's calm mood held. The small craft moved steadily over the rolling swells. Huddled in the prow, Bette tried to force herself to consider what might happen next. But wearily her thoughts lagged and she relaxed a little, found a fairly comfortable spot and, in another moment, was sound asleep.

She was awakened by the jolting of the narrow boat as it slid up onto the beach.

"Are we here?" she asked, rubbing her eyes.

"We're here—but the Post isn't!" Scott's voice harsh with new anxiety.

Bette was awake instantly. Sitting bolt upright she looked up the beach, recognized the curve of the little bay, recognized the towering mountain wall surrounding the narrow valley, saw then what Scott meant. Not a building standing where the Post had been. Not a plane on the open landing field. Not a sign of life.

They scrambled out of the boat, and then she was amazed when he fairly threw her to her knees in the wet sand and flung himself prone beside her.

"What in the world—" she gasped angrily.

He pulled her down. "Here put this on." He pushed his flying helmet toward her.

"Thanks, I—"

"Put it on."

Meekly, she pulled the heavy leather cap over her bright head. Then he smiled at her slowly, and very wearily. "You have the prettiest hair I ever saw on a woman—and it makes the most conspicuous target a Jap sniper could want."

But Bette ignored him. She had seen now the gutted remains of what had once been the hospital. The shell of the Recreation building and radio station. She'd seen too the great craters yawning in the beach headland.

"What happened? Where are—What—" But she couldn't say it aloud.

Scott shook his head. "Japs of course. But what I can't understand is why they let us land. Probably—" his lips twisted, "we're not worth wasting ammunition on."

He began crawling forward over the wet sand.

"Where are you going?" Bette pulled herself up beside him.

He shrugged. "If there are Japs hiding in fox-holes up there the sooner we know it, the better. This suspense—" Again he turned that irresistible grin toward her, "—is killing me."

Bette caught herself being glad that if she had to die at the hands of a sneaking Jap, at least—she managed a smile at Scott in return—she was in excellent company.

There weren't many men who could look death right in the teeth like this and smile.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY SUNDAY MIDNIGHT SHOW
Thrilling adventure is due to hit the screen of the Majestic theatre next Monday when Paramount brings its behind-the-Rommel-rout story, "Five Graves to Cairo," to Blanktown. The story takes place in the African desert at the height of the Afrika Korps successes. It tells how a British tank corporal, played by Franchot Tone, stumbles, delicious from sunstroke, into the Hotel Empress of Britain in the tiny Egyptian village of Sidi Halfaya. Frantically, the Egyptian hotel keeper, Akim Tamiroff, tells him that the hotel is being occupied by the Nazis as their staff headquarters. He just has time to hide the semi-unconscious Tone when Field Marshal Erwin Rommel and his staff arrive. Ann Baxter has the feminine lead.

WEDNESDAY
Flaming with hatred against their bestial Nazi oppressors, the heroic guerrillas of deathless Stalingrad are brought to the screen for the first time in Columbia's adventure-roaring drama, "The Boy from Stalingrad." Scheduled to make its local bow on Wednesday at the Majestic theatre, the stirring film promises to fill every heart with suspense, thrills and chills as Russia's unconquerable youth fights on with a cry for vengeance on their lips and the stuff of victory in their hearts!

THURSDAY
A re-showing of "The Pride of the Yankees," starring Gary Cooper and Teresa Wright, has been booked for Thursday at the Majestic. The film presents a comparatively accurate account of the life of the late Lou Gehrig, star first baseman of the New York Yankees. Walter Brennan, Babe Ruth and a number of Yankee baseball stars take part in the film.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray, co-starred for the first time in "Above Suspicion."
